Residue

by Dr. Arijit Bag

The stopping stories are the same
The tunes that connect two stories may different
Two minds that are waiting for the confluence
May demolish the stories and the strain.

But, two merged minds may create
Numbers of stories and tunes
At the stopping time of their joint venture
Of their conflicts and funes

Drops of water may rolling over
On the smart fiber walls
But a few sounds remains
As if the time is stopped here.
