

(Peer Reviewed and Refereed Journal)

Poetry Section

“Zig-Zag Life”

In this voyage called life, we often find,
A path that winds, with curves that bind.
With bends and twists, we venture along,
Through highs and lows, where we belong.

Navigating through moments, both bright and tough,
We face challenges, when the going gets rough.
In these patterns, we learn to adapt,
To sway with the wind, to reshape our map.

Sometimes the road is uncertain and unclear,
Like a riddle unsolved, filled with doubt and fear.
But fear not, dear traveler, within you lies,
The strength to endure, the power to rise.

Embrace the turns, they hold hidden tales,
Lessons to uncover, stories that never fail.
For with every twist, a new chance awaits,
To find your purpose, to unlock unknown gates.

(Peer Reviewed and Refereed Journal)

Marvel at life's waltz, its captivating dance,
A tapestry woven, filled with chance and circumstance.
In the detours, unexpected as they may be,
We truly grow, our hearts learn to see.

So let's celebrate this winding ride,
With open hearts and arms stretched wide.
In this labyrinth of twists and turns we tread,
We find our true selves, a journey widespread.

Remember, dear soul, as you forge ahead,
Paths may meander, yet miracles are spread.
Hold faith in the journey, trust it shall be,
The beautiful tapestry, uniquely crafted for thee.

- P. Dishu Gangwar

Apout Poet:

P. Dishu Gangwar, Research Scholar, Department of English , Krishna Institute of Management. Meerut. UP

englishaspirant3@gmail.com